CELLAR PRACTICES: Made in the Saignee style, the juice from the Brat was bled off the skins after 36 hours of cold soak and placed into a stainless barrel. Grenache yeast was added and fermentation took place over a period of several weeks in a cold environment. The wine was then racked off of the gross lees and never saw any oak.

TASTING NOTES: Baby Doll, a term of endearment used for Wendy, this wine was designed to be fun and refreshing. Intended to be chilled and served on warm afternoons, this wine is crisp and refreshing exhibiting flavors of pink grapefruit, fresh cut melons, cherry cider and strawberries. However, this wine is not just about fresh fruit. There is a background both in aroma and on the palate is a reminder of the terrior where this fruit was grown.
